All-Female Flying Fins Aviator Team Soars to Fifth Place

When Jacksonville University's female aviator team, the Flying Fins, placed 25th out of 55 teams in the Air Race Classic (ARC) last year, they were happy with their results. After all, it was the first time the then two-woman team — Madi Bright '19 and Rachel Chaput '19 — flew in a race.

With that race under their belts, they set their sights on a top ten finish at this year's race, which took place June 18-21. They added a third aviator to the team — Morgan Carney '22 — and crushed their goal, soaring into fifth place.

“Not only were the Flying Fins fifth overall, the ladies were the fastest Cirrus aircraft and placed second among 16 collegiate teams,” Aviation Professor Ross Stephenson said proudly. “This is an awesome win for our team and JU.”
